New Online Marketplace Offers an Easy Way to Make Money in a Hard Economy

Sheepbuy.com allows you to sell anything, anytime online for a low monthly fee of $10 – no commission or additional cost.

Laredo, TX – September 2, 2013 – Sheepbuy.com, a new online marketplace, aims to change the way that e-retailers do business. The site is differentiating itself from other major e-commerce websites by eliminating commission fees and instead charging a flat monthly rate of $10 for sellers to post items.

Many of the major selling and e-commerce sites on the Internet charge a commission fee every time a user sells a product. This typically means that the company will take a percentage of the user's profit. This cuts into the seller's overall gain, in turn driving prices up on the site as sellers try to compensate for the commission cost.

In this difficult economy, many people want to know how to sell items online to make extra cash. Sheepbuy's mission is to allow everyone to sell anything for a reasonable price. They plan to do this in two ways: by allowing users the flexibility to sell any products and by charging a flat monthly membership fee rather than a commission fee. Users can sell anything from clothes to electronics to cars, and items can be either used or new.

Sheepbuy's model benefits buyers as well as sellers. Because it costs less to sell items on Sheepbuy than it does on many other sites, sellers are less inclined to raise their prices, meaning greater savings for the consumer.

With its straightforward interface, Sheepbuy is also easy for both buyers and sellers to learn how to sell stuff and navigate. Products are divided into different categories such as Automotive, Pet, and Toys, and each section has subcategories for more specific items. Sheepbuy gives users the ability to include high-quality photos of the items they are selling, letting buyers clearly see what they're getting.

Sheepbuy hopes to stand out from competitors because of its transparency. No matter how many items their members sell and how much money they make, Sheepbuy will not take a cut of the profits. The online marketplace hopes that this straightforward approach that puts money back in its members' pockets will appeal to both online sellers and buyers.
